

November 5, 2008

Dear Debbie Green and County Staff:

Congratulations on another successful General Election and thank you for your tremendous commitment and dedication. I realize the transition to SCORE and other challenges you faced this year have been significant and I appreciate the effort the counties have made to make this election successful for our citizens. This has not been an easy election for any of us, and we realize the burdens placed upon the counties have been extremely high.

With all eyes on Colorado, high intensity turnout and a new statewide voter registration system, these challenges seemed, at times, to be insurmountable. But, thanks to the incredible commitment from the counties, we realized these objectives together as a partnership.

This success is due to our working together in a spirit of cooperation and I appreciate your extraordinary patience, contributions, and efforts in this Election.

I understand and fully recognize the sacrifices you and your staff have made this year and I want to acknowledge and thank everyone for their valued contributions. Over the next month, I will be working with my team to gather your recommendations so they may be passed onto the new leadership, as your input is vital in improving the electoral process further.

All of you are to be commended for a job well done and I personally wish you my warmest congratulations.

Thank you,

Mike Coffman